

The Insurance Law Center
cordially invites you to its spring symposium

REMAKING
Financial Services
REGULATION

Sponsored by the Insurance Law Center and the Connecticut Insurance Law Journal

Friday, April 17, 2009

8:15 a.m. - 4:45 p.m.

William F. Starr Hall

University of Connecticut School of Law
Hartford, Connecticut

University of Connecticut

INSURANCE
LAW CENTER

The global credit crisis unearthed a string of failures throughout U.S. financial services regulation. State and federal agencies vied in a race to the bottom in lending standards and regulators sacrificed consumer safety for short-term profitability. Investor protection laws were ignored and much of mortgage finance operated in the shadow of the commercial banking system, free from rudimentary regulation. Meanwhile, proposals for an optional federal insurance charter are gaining steam. This conference examines why U.S. financial regulation broke down and how that system should be reformed.

NON-PROFIT ORG.
U.S. POSTAGE
PAID
HARTFORD, CT
Permit No. 4759

Keynote Address:

Richard J. Hillman, Managing Director
Financial Markets and Community Investment
U.S. Government Accountability Office

Panelists:

Tom Baker, University of Pennsylvania Law School
Todd Henderson, University of Chicago Law School
Dwight Jaffee, University of California, Berkeley, Haas School of Business
Edward J. Kane, Boston College, Carroll School of Management
Patricia McCoy, University of Connecticut School of Law
Heidi Schooner, Catholic University of America, Columbus School of Law
Michael Taylor, Central Bank of Bahrain
Therese Vaughan, National Association of Insurance Commissioners
Susan M. Wachter, University of Pennsylvania, Wharton School
Arthur E. Wilmarth, Jr., George Washington University Law School

Moderators:

John Clapp, University of Connecticut, School of Business
Center for Real Estate and Urban Economic Studies
Stephen Ross, University of Connecticut, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences
John Day, University of Connecticut School of Law
Peter Siegelman, University of Connecticut School of Law
James Vitarello, U.S. Government Accountability Office

Registration fee: $100.00 (breakfast and lunch included). Registration is FREE for full-time academics, government employees, senior citizens 65 and over, and students. To register, please visit: www.law.uconn.edu/news/events/remaking.html. For inquiries, contact Patricia Carbray by phone at 860-570-5184 or via e-mail at patricia.carbray@law.uconn.edu.

If you require reasonable accommodation for a disability, please call Jane Thierfeld Brown at 860-570-5130 at least two weeks in advance.