

Each term, a select number of courses are scheduled so as to permit the distance learning students in the Insurance LL.M. program to participate remotely in the course. These courses are held at a scheduled day and time. Also offered could be asynchronous courses. These courses, while they may have a required, live first class meeting on campus, are completed online. Asynchronous (or “online”) courses are open to both J.D. and LL.M. students. In accordance with ABA Standards, Juris Doctor students may not enroll in distance education courses until after the completion of two (2) full-time or part-time regular (fall/spring) semesters. Juris Doctor students may not count towards graduation greater than nine (9) total credits of online course work. Before enrolling in any distance or online course, students are strongly urged to check the eligibility requirements for the state bar(s) in which with they intend to sit. Among the states with restrictions regarding these courses is New York and Massachusetts. The website maintained by the state’s Board of Law Examiners should be carefully reviewed.

FALL 2019 COURSE OFFERINGS

* Distance Learning Course Offerings *

Principles of Reinsurance                  Professor Thomas Farrish                  Mondays, 6:30-9:15pm                  3 credits	Life Insurance, Annuities, and Disability Income Insurance Law                  Professor Walter Welsh                  Tuesdays, 6:30-9:15pm                  3 credits
Health Care Financing                  Professor Charles Klippel                  Tuesdays, 6:30-9:15pm                  3 credits	Principles of Insurance                  Professor Peter Kochenburger                  Wednesdays, 6:30-9:15pm                  3 credits
Professional Liability Insurance                  Professor Marcos Mendoza                  Mondays, 6:30-9:15pm                  2 credits	Insurance Regulation                  Professor Patrick Salve                  Professor Barbara Rezner                  Thursdays, 6:30-9:15pm                  3 credits
Law of Marine Insurance                  Professors Michael Eisele and Terry Harris                  Mondays, 6:30-8:30pm                  2 credits (3rd Credit Option)	Captive Insurance                  Professor Philip England                  Wednesdays, 6:30-9:15pm                  3 credits
Healthcare Liability Insurance                  Professor Joshua Stein                  Wednesdays, 6:30-9:15pm                  3 credits

* Online Course Offering *

Problem Solving Methodology                  A bar exam preparation course – open only to prospective graduates                  Professor Samuel Farkas                  2 credits
---